INDIAN MURDER

Shirley Cruzen Stevens*

From the FARMERS REPOSITORY, Charles Town, Virginia, issue dated 23 June 1819:

Mansfield, Ohio, May 26, 1819.

On the night of the 21st or 22nd ult, two men, named JOHN WOOD & GEORGE BISHOP were inhumanly murdered on the Carrying River, about 12 miles above its mouth, where they were encamped for the purpose of trapping furs; they were found by a Mr. CHARLES TUPPER and 1 or 2 other men and 2 or 3 Indians, rolled in their blankets. On examining their bodies, it was found that BISHOP had 6 wounds of the tomahawk in his head, each of which would alone have proved mortal, besides other several wounds. WOOD had a large gash on the back part of his head, which laid his brains bare, and 2 or 3 strokes near his left ear, which fractured his skull in a shocking manner.WOOD had a wife and small family; BISHOP had none.

On finding the mangled bodies, the Indians of the neighboring forest, were notified of the facts; the suspicions immediately centered on 3 Indians of the Tawa tribe, of the names of NEGONEBA, NEGOSHEIK, and NEGOSSUM, the latter of which is a boy of 18. The Indians exerted all their means to apprehend and bring to justice their vagrant and suspected brethren, and happily a small party under the control of MR.TUPPER succeeded in apprehending and securing them.

They were taken before a Justice of the Peace, where the confessed the facts, with all the attendant circumstances.- The murderers were then taken to Norwalk, the county of Huron, and were there confined in irons, and a centinel placed over them in an empty cabin, there being no gaol in the village. NEGONEBA and NEGOSSUM found means to extricate themselves from their shackles and escape their prison, notifying NEGOSHEIK of their success by a hideous yell; on hearing which, NEGOSHEIK immediately sprang towards the forest in his shackles, with surprising agility, and would no doubt have effected his escape but for the intrepidity of the centinel, who levelled his piece and fired on him and brought him to the ground with wounds which may yet preserve his neck from the halter.

They were once again apprehended,and taken before the Court of Common Pleas in Norwalk, at which time they were indicted, & found guilty. They were sentenced to be executed on 1 July next. NEGOSSUM was found not guilty, and released.

WARREN:TRUMP OF FAME, 1812

TO MEN OF PATRIOTISM, COURAGE AND ENTERPRIZE.

EVERY able bodied man, from the age of 18 to 45 years, who shall be enlisted for the term of five years, will be paid a bounty of SIXTEEN DOLLARS—and whenever he shall have served the term for which he enlisted, and obtained an honorable discharge, stating that he had faithfully performed his duty whilst in service, he shall be allowed and paid, in addition to the aforesaid bounty, three months pay, and ONE HUNDRED and SIXTY ACRES OF LAND: and in case he should be killed in action or die in the service, his heirs and representatives will be entitled to the said three months pay, and one hundred and sixty acres of land, to be designated, surveyed and laid off, at the public expence.

WILSON ELLIOTT.
Capt. U. States' Army.

Warren, July 6th, 1812.

Place of Rendezvous, Warren, Trumbull Co. Ohio.

Dr. Franklin P. McCann*

In THE REPORT (24:2:99) an article appeared titled "Ohioans Buried at Andersonville." As noted, that information was taken from A LIST OF THE UNION SOLDIERS BURIED AT ANDERSONVILLE by Dorence Atwater (New York, 1890). Another source has been found, titled ANDERSONVILLE DIARY: ESCAPE AND LIST OF THE DEAD, by John L. Ransom (Auburn, NY, 1881). Interestingly, the two lists very closely resemble one another, and probably had a common origin. To show the slight differences, a name-by-name comparison was made between the Atwater list and the Ransom list, which follows.

In addition, Mr. Ransom included another list in his work, entitled "A List of Officers Imprisoned at Camp Asylum, Columbia, South Carolina." Ransom included men from all states, but ONLY the Ohio officers are included in the list given here, showing the name, rank and military unit to which he was attached.

MORE ON ANDERSONVILLE

The following comments might be helpful, concerning the article on "Ohioans Buried at Andersonville."

ANDERSONVILLE was opened in February, 1864. Therefore, the death dates listed are for 1864 unless specified as 1865.

The soldiers shown as "not listed" in the OHIO ROSTERS from the random sample can be found in other companies of the 100th OVI, most of them in Company H. This is obviously a transcription error in the original document. The easiest way to locate these men is to use the "Roll of Honor" in the back of each volume, as the deceased men are listed alphabetically for the entire regiment, not by company.

Many other Ohio soldiers died at Andersonville that are not on this list. The OHIO ROSTERS is the best source, but unfortunately, I know of no compilation of this information.

FENSLER FAMILY ADDITION

William Edward Fensler*

In THE REPORT 19:3:121, an article appeared about the Fensler family. Additional information is as follows:

Emanuel FENSLER, b 7 Jly 1801, Phila.Pa, d 31 Jan 1875. Catherine (STALEY) FENSLER b 21 Aug 1808, Baden, Germany, d 29 Aug 1869; married 6 Mar 1825, Phila.Pa. Emanuel & Catherine are buried in a small private cemetery; my 99 year old aunt recalls that the stones had been removed.

Oldest of 9 children, John H. FENSLER, b 22 Sep 1826, Phila., m 16 May 1852 to Christina KOHLI.

Emanuel FENSLER & family of 3 children migrated to Shannon, OH circa 1831.

In 1848, the area of Riley Township, Putnam County, was given to Allen County when Auglaize County was established. Shannon, settled by Irish and Prussian Germans, is the modern Bluffton, Richland Twp., Allen County, Ohio.

DEBOLT POST #396 G.A.R. CENTERBURG, KNOX CO., OHIO

Jack W.Tucker*

Found in a Bible owned by my gret-grandfather is the following roster of Debolt Post #396, Grand Army of the Republic, with most of the members being from Centerburg.

The list is undated, except for a listing of meeting dates in the year 1892. The submitter seeks additional information about the organization: Which DEBOLT was it named for? And WHY? When was it founded and when disbanded? Where did they meet?

The officers are listed with * following their names, and with their rank. All other members are followed by their home towns.

SURVIVORS OF THE SULTANA

Dewyda L. Ward*

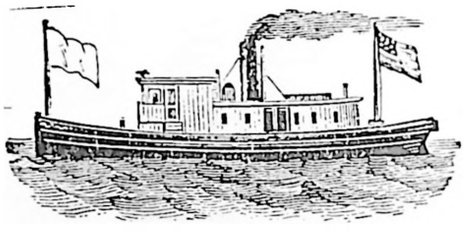
After reading the article in THE REPORT (24:1:28), the following information may be of additional interest:

WILLIAM H.ROSS states that he enlisted in Washington Tp., Holmes Co., Ohio on 9 Aug 1862, as a private in Co A, 102nd Regt OVI, & discharged 30 May 1865. Was injured at battle of Athens, Ala, & was taken prison by the enemy until 18 Mar 1865, when he was exchanged. While on the Steamboat "Sultana" on the Mississippi River, in Tennessee, on 27 Apr 1865, the steamboat blew up or exploded and he was struck by something in his skull bone, that 5 pieces of his skull bone was taken out by a surgeon who was on the steamer, and that at the same time, he got his left ankle joint broken. As a result of said injuries, he is unable to work. He has resided ever since at Ripley Twp., Holmes Co., Ohio, but he cannot do much farming on account of his injuries. He asks the government to prosecute his claim, as he has never received or applied for any pension.

29 June 1875 WILLIAM H. ROSS

(At his death, he left his widow MALINDA STONER and 3 sons, Frank, Lloyd and Earl.)

*Dewyda L. Ward, 336 E. Cairo Dr., Tempe, AZ 85282



MORE ON THE SULTANA....

From the East Palestine REVEILLE ECHO, 30 Apr 1903, an article recounts more of the adventures of this ill-fated journey:

In commemoration of the greatest marine disaster in history, the National Sultana Survivors' Association will meet at Kent, ohio, April 28-29, for its 18th annual convention. JOSEPH BRINGMAN, who resides a few miles east of East Palestine, is one of the surviving members.

The "Sultana" was a regular St.Louis & New Orleans packet, built at Cincinnati in 1863. Northbound, she arrived at Vicksburg, Miss., 24 Apr 1865, and there took on 1865 federal soldiers and 35 officers, just released from rebel prisons. She carried in addition, her crew and about 200 passengers, making a total of nearly 2300 human beings and a cargo of mules, horses and molasses.

Enroute from Memphis to Cairo, Ill., she was passing a group of islands known as the "Old Hen and Chickens" at about 2 o'clock on the morning of April 27, when one of her boilers exploded. The gragments of the boiler cut the cabin and the hurricane deck in two and she immediately took fire and was burned to the water's edge, sinking within 20 minutes. The river was high and fully three miles wide at the point of the accident, and the night was dark and rainy. Of the 2300 aboard, some managed to swim to land, but 1700 were either killed by the explosion, burned to death, drowned or chilled to death after reaching timber, being too weak to climb out of the water.

Of the survivors, about 300 are alive and they make up the association, which was organized at Fostoria, Oh., Dec.30, 1885. While the other offices of the association have been held by various persons, the original president, SAMUEL H. RAUDEBAUGH, of Lindsay, O., and the original secretary, WM. FIES, of Marion, O., have held their offices since the date of organization.

WHAT'S IN A NAME ???

Carol Willsey Bell, C.G.*

For many years, the compiler has been collecting odd, interesting and funny names, as a diversion to the sometimes dull business of collecting data. To be included in this list, a name MUST have an Ohio connection, preferably with a DATE and PLACE. Members are cordially invited to send in candidates for another list, which we will publish when enough names have been collected.

SMITH - SOOY FAMILY BIBLE

Doris Frye*

These records were given to my mother, Mrs. Marie Kennedy, by a nephew about 20 years ago at the death of his mother. They were previously in the possession of their mother, Caroline B. Martin, her mother Sarah Elizabeth Clemmens, and in turn, her mother Charlotte Smith Clemmens. All of the first page with the exception of the last two entries, was, I believe, copied at one sitting from another record. It appears so. Charlotte's mother was Elizabeth Smith who married John L. Smith.

The Smith family were Quakers from Little Egg Harbor, NJ and the first entries of Anthony Smith and Lydia (Willets) Smith are the oft-cited Quaker ancestors of Richard Milhous Nixon, he descending from their daughter Judith.

Anthony Smith was a Revolutionary Soldier who died in Monroe Co., Ohio.

Additional records on the family can be found in Greene Co.,Pa., and of my particular branch of the family, in Vinton Co Ohio.

SNIDER FAMILY BIBLE

Dr. William B. Saxbe, C.G.*

I received this Bible from Robert Thompson of 617 Second St., Port Clinton OH 43452 in 1984. He had been given the book several days before by Mrs. Vincent Biro of 300 Northern Dr., Marblehead, OH 43440. The Bible had evidently been found many years before in the attic of a farmhouse in Danbury Twp., Ottawa Co.,OH, that Mrs. Biro's father--Stephan Kosa (1877-1942)--had bought about 1918 from J.Fred Graves (1875-1941). Her sister kept the book after her father's death, and Mrs. Biro gave it to Mr. Thompson because she knew of his interest in family history.

By an extraordinary coincidence I had spoken to the Ottawa Co. Chapter OGS the preceding week on the subject of tracing early Ohio pioneers back to their places of origin in the East. I had used the family of Henry Snider--my ancestors--as examples! My great-grandfather, James Lowry Kleinhans (1848-1942) was the third child of David Kleinhans (1821-1915) and Margaret Ann Snider (1820-1848), whose marriage and first two children's births are recorded below. Mr. Thompson recognized the family in the Bible and very kindly passed it on to me.

Henry Snider (1792-1839) and his wife Margaret (1794-1885) moved from Knowlton Township, Sussex (now Warren) Co., New Jersey to Erie Township, Sandusky (now Ottawa) Co., Ohio, in the spring of 1834. He was probably Henry^{3} (Henry^{2},Philip^{1}); she was probably Margaret^{5} Reading (Ellis^{4}, Capt.Thomas^{3}, Gov.John^{2}, Col.John^{1}).

The Bible is in a poor state of preservation, with multiple torn pages and watermarks. Both the front and the back covers are missing, along with considerable text. In fact, it begins in the middle of Numbers, Chapter 1; and finishes with the Gospel of St.John, Chapter 3. However, the Family Record section, between the Old and New Testaments, is intact. There are no other enclosures in the book. The title page is naturally absent, but there is a title page to the New Testament, stating that it was printed and sold by Collins & Co., New York, 1819. The contents of the family record are copied verbatim, even where fragmentary or garbled. There are several obvious errors of fact: for instance, the death of Henry Snider is given as 1840, yet his estate was probated in the spring of 1839. Doubtful entries are underlined.

ADVICE FOR AN ENGLISH GENEALOGICAL & HISTORICAL ADVENTURE

Joseph B. Meierdirks*

For centuries genealogy was a British pastime for all gentle and peerage families. Each family knew its predecessors and planned out the family connections in the marriages for the future. It was a royal perogative to select and approve all marital junctures of noble families. The 4th Duke of Norfolk, Thomas III Howard, in the time of Elizabeth I, reorganized the College of Arms that investigated all claims for peerage alliance and recorded the English genealogies of gentle and noble families. These records are published in the Harleian Society Visitations of the English counties. Some 120 volumes drawn from manuscripts, present one data source for the modern British peerage with a Surname entry in Volumes 99, 101, 102 and 104. These data in chart form are relational for the family line. They do not include all of the auxiliary lines (brothers and sisters) and contain few dates. There are obvious erros where the data are beyond the ken of the reporting family. Reference works can be checked in the British Museum Catalogue of Printed Books.

Most English governmental actions that apply to persons, families and properties are recorded in the Calendar of (insert item) Rolls of English Kings: State Papers, Letters and Papers, Patent, Inquisition, Charter, Chancery, Close, Fine, Liberate, Curia Regis, Reudal Aids, Fees, Treasury, Genealogicum and Pipe. Others are in the Catalogues of Ancient Deeds and Manuscripts. Most of these are available in the primary State University Libraries. The earliest Rolls are still in Latin. G.R.Elton, in his England, 1200 to 1640, describes the contents and period of each of these Roll Series, in introductory form. These Rolls are the record of the decisions of the King and his designated councilors sitting as court of law, royal or extended. These numerous volumes printed from the 19th to the 20th Century contain an enormous amount of detail relating to persons, titles, property and activities of the royal government. Relation or origin of persons other than title are not usually given in these records, and they presuppose a precise knowledge of persons, titles, family and location natural to governmental persons of that day. Where persons of the same name are concurrent, considerable knowledge of dates, properties, occupations and progress in life are required to disentangle different persons reported in the same time period. Dating is usually excellent and successive, and the indexing of these volumes is a scholarly work of great merit.

The focus of the Rolls is property. The king owned all of it and everyone else paid rent or fees on entry or demise (taxes). One gains the impression particularly in Tudor times that the King or Queen knew about every occupant, or movement thereof and controlled everything. It is hard to see how anyone could circumvent the royal policy or presence, unless of course the ruler benefited in the process. Customs, trade and goods were not the major source of royal income until the dawn of the modern age. The courts collected fees for each action and the property of nearly everyone of import reverted to the crown on death or attainment to be kept, given out or reinstated by fees (taxes). Older dating refers to the year of the Reign from accession day to accession day, not for the calendar year. The first day of the calendar year in Britain and her colonies was the Julian, March 25th (associated with the Annunciation and the coming of Spring) until 1752. Modern works and translations sometimes keep the Julian designation where the date is well known and important; translate to the Gregorian year or give both as old/new.

Older dates in Inquisitions, or local testimony of property holdings on demise, probated by the Chancery church courts, refer to feast days like the Wednesday after St.Swithuns day. A good pre-Vatican II hagiography (book of saints lives) and a Julian perpetual calendar from an Almanac are sufficient for a correct interpretation. The precise professional historian or researcher could refer to old English church calendars that are likely to be in Latin.

The Victoria History(s) of the Counties of England, still in the process of initial publication after a century of work, are the best source of information on the successive transfer of property, dating back in some places to the Domesday Books of 1086. These check well with original translated sources, such as the Rolls. Entry into these exhaustive but incomplete studies is by the Anglo-Saxon Hundred (representing hides or livings). These are not necessarily the same Hundreds that are listed in the Domesday books. The parish hundred map preceeds each Victoria history section. An atlas of the parishes of each county from middle English times will aid study, but the hundreds are not outlined on these and a diligent study is suggested for correct placement. The final designation under each parish is the manors, with a description and the successive holders, deleting minor tenures. Where the Victoria History is not completed for a county, copies of 18th century histories in the same format are sometimes available but the scholarship matches the time period. These locations and designations are natural to the English person of a locality, but they are not natural to us. Luckily a high proportion of early locations are given in modern or historical atlases of England and the British Isles.

Modern genealogical data attempts to give names and the dates and places of birth, marriage and death. Available English records sometimes give these dates but often the birth date is really a recorded Baptismal date; a marriage date may be the date of the prior marriage license; and the death date may be the date of burial, or sometimes the date of Inquisition or probation that can occur some years afterwards. The date of accession to a title might be used as the death record of a predecessor, or the written date of the will, prior to death, may be the only indicator of demise. Date uncertainty is greatest for death, but this may also be the most frequently available date because property changes are noted in the record, while marriage and birth dates may occur when the person is not of sufficient standing for record. An accurate middle English genealogy lists the record data, however indeterminate.

Places of birth, marriage and death are seldom given in the manner we understand for genealogical data, except in church and probate records. The English focus on property gives us the names of properties held on death by counties. The place listed in the Probate Index for Wills is the most probable place of death. Burial data from the parish register (not necessarily the place of death), or the major property held on demise are likely places of death, unless history or the record specifically states otherwise. Unless the parish is a specific family seat, the Parish Registers are not helpful for genealogical identification and relationship. When and where available they give specific information on an individual, and limited familial information in marriage and sometimes in the Baptismal record. Early sons and daughters of the same name are a particular point of confusion. The Ancient Parish Registers of England and Wales by A.M.Burke dates the beginning of records. Parish Registers of the London area are available here, and scattered parishes in the counties, but 1538 is the earliest record date available.

Histories include only the primary participants, and the miniscule information on secondary participants seldom confirms their identification or relates them to their families, particularly if they are untitled. Although historians downgrade the area of genealogy, perhaps because of the erros noted in the preceeding paragraphs, they must be ardent followers of family history to avoid confusion of persons and families, or simply paraphrase their predecessors. Title-place designation usually refers to some ancient seat or prior condition of origin, and old titles rarely designate the modern seat or even those held by previous creations of the title. Title-Surname relationships are not easy to follow through the vicissitudes of time, except in well researched biographies. The English Dictionary of National Biography is a very valuable and accurate source of compiled data on important persons and sometimes on families. Practice on a well known important family, and good luck in your efforts if you are able to "cross the pond" by identifying your English ancestors.

[The author notes that many of the sources mentioned are available in U.S. college & public libraries.]

CINCINNATI PIONEERS ???

Elizabeth S. Cottle*

In reference to the article on page 91 of the Summer 1986 REPORT, titled "Cincinnati Pioneers", perhaps the title should more properly be OHIO PIONEERS since several of them are very definitely Marietta residents.

One of these is listed as James M. Dutton, b 23 July 1801 Loudoun Co VA who came to Ohio in 1805. This man is usually called James 2nd, as he was the son of Joseph Dutton (1776-1841) and the grandson of James Dutton Sr. (1743--1839) whose youngest child was James Dutton JR (1798-1874) and hence, his uncle. The three James Duttons all died in Washington County, and the two younger ones in Marietta.- James Dutton 2nd is famous because he brought in the first producing oil well in Ohio on Oct. 11, 1860, near Macksburg, so his life is well documented. Also, he happens to be a great-great-uncle of my husband whose great-great-grand-parents were Polly Dutton and Daniel Davis, who lived near Lowell.

There is also a group of Putnams and another of Stones who also belong to Washington County, and probably several others said to be "Marietta natives."

*Elizabeth S. Cottle, 404 Bellevue St., Marietta OH 45750

Editor's note: The Editor fully agrees with Mrs. Cottle's assessment of that article. The fact that the source of information was THE CINCINNATI PIONEER would lead one to the conclusion that they did indeed live in Cincinnati.- However after closer examination, it appears that there was an early "First Families of Ohio" and that these members may have lived in places other than Cincinnati.

BEQUEATHING VALUES AND GOODS: THE WILL OF JOHN LIVERPOOL

Stacy A. Flaherty*

The Afro-American Communities Project is conducting research on antebellum black communities in several northern cities, one of which is Cincinnati, Ohio. We gathered our information on Cincinnati through the use of federal censuses, city directories and Hamilton County probate records. During the course of our study we have located and analyzed information on the social and occupational networks of Cincinnati's black community. We are interested in sharing our research with others who are studying their families and their local communities.

Until recently, the history of the United States focused on the political, military, and economic leaders of the country. Ordinary folk figured little in the history texts. By the 1960's however, historians began to research and write about groups such as laborers, domestic workers, families, women, and minorities. These social historians expanded our understanding ot the American "experience."

Accompanying this interest in new topics in American history has been the increasing and imaginative use of public sources such as census data, city directories, wills, and account books. Among these several sources of community, family and individual histories, are the records of the Probate Court. By examining probate records (wills, administration dockets and inventories) [1] we have uncovered information on several members of the free black community in Cincinnati. This information helps to illuminate the organization and structure of that community. A will, for example, provides researchers a glimpse of a person's final hopes and wishes. We not only "witness" the distribution of real and personal property, but also sense affection and commitment to family and community.

In some cases there are incomplete records of probate documents. An 1884 fire destroyed many of the records housed in the Hamilton County Courthouse. [2] Yet, there are a substantial number of restored and preserved records in the Probate Court that enabled us to pursue our research into the nature of the black community in 19th century Cincinnati. Unfortunately, we were unable to find any inventories. Yet, the wills and administration dockets provided us with ample data on the black community. Since wills were recorded without reference to race, we were only able to find Afro-American wills by matching names of Afro-Americans in various censuses, [3] with the will and administration indexes of Hamilton County, Ohio. This procedure enabled us to identify wills and other probate records of the Cincinnati black community.

Once we located and read the wills we double-checked to further identify that the wills had been written by blacks. We checed the names mentioned in the wills against the censuses. For example, John Liverpool, a mulatoo born in Virginia, is listed in the 1850 and 1860 censuses. We located his will, which was submitted to probate on 14 Nov 1866. He named his wife, Eliza Ann Elizabeth Liverpool, and several children in his will. Eliza and his children are listed in the census as living in the same household as John Liverpool. This check verified that we had located a will written by an Afro-American. (One can also verify the names of witnesses in the same way.)

Even though our research is aimed at the Cincinnati black community, we have examined records and explored methods that would be helpful to researchers of family and individual histories. Wills are fascinating documents. They not only tell us how much money and property an individual bequeaths to a beneficiary; it also informs us as to the relationships of the will writer to family members and to his or her community. Many times there is information as to the occupation of the will writer, the location of their home and burial ground, and mention of their prize possessions. Wills also indicate the values of the will writer.

The following will of John Liverpool, a Cincinnati barber, is illustrative of the research value of probate records. [4] According to the federal census records, Liverpool was 60 years old in 1860. He wrote his will when he was 63 and died three years later. By combining probate records with census data, city directories, and local histories, we are able to unravel information on specific individuals and the larger black community in antebellum Cincinnati.

"In the name of God, Amen. I John Liverpool of the City of Cincinnati, County of Hamilton and State of Ohio; being in poor state of health but of sound and disposing mind and memory (praised be God therefor) and being desirous of settling my worldly affairs while I have strength and capacity so to do; do make and publish this my last Will and Testament; that is to say. First I give and bequeath to my beloved wife Eliza Ann Elizabeth Liverpool to have and to hold during the term of her widowhood the three story brick house in which I now live, and in which for more than twenty years last past I have lived and which is situated on the East side of Race street between Front and Second Street and also the Lot upon which it is erected in the City of Cincinnati, County of Hamilton Ohio. It is my will that upon the decease of my beloved wife, that should she have untill that time have remained a Widow that all my property os which she remains possessed shall descend to our Children share and share alike; with this exception however, the two children of my late deceased Son William Henry Liverpool whose names are Thomas N.C.Liverpool and Charles Alexander Liverpool instead of having an equal share as is devised to my other children are to receive for their full and entire portion the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars each one of them for their full and entire share of all my property. It is my will, that should my dear beloved wife Eliza Ann Elizabeth Liverpool again enter into the bonds of matrimony and take to herself another husband and thus become the wife of another, then and in the event the said brick house and lot, with all the appurtenances thereto belong is to be sold by my executor, and one third of the proceeds thereof paid to my said wife or widow in lieu of dower and as her full and entire portion of my estate, and the remaining two thirds to be distributed and paid for as provided in the preceeding sections. To my beloved wife as aforesaid I give and bequeath my watch and chain to be kept and preserved by her as a momento of her departed husband. To my beloved daughter Lavinia Liverpool I give and bequeath a sufficient quantity of household furniture to be selected by herself to furnish one room comfortably. To my son John James Liverpool my Blue Cloth overcoat, and also my walking stick; this last, viz: the stick to be preserved by him as a momento of his late father. To my beloved son Thomas Liverpool my shot gun. To my beloved son in law Albert Darnell in consideration of faithfull and meritorious services rendered to me and for his many acts of friendship and love give and bequeath the one half of all my interest, title and claim, in and to my barber shop on the East side of Walnut street between Front and Water streets, in the City of Cincinnati aforesaid. The other half of said barber shop and of my claim thereto I give and bequeath my beloved son Joshua Liverpool, these two last named to enjoy the same share and share alike. This last bequest is not to take effect nor the property pass until one year shall have expired after my decease in the mean time my beloved wife is to enjoy and possess all the rights and profits therein until one full year after my decease. To my beloved wife I give and bequeath all that remains of my personal property. And I hereby make and ordain my beloved son Thomas N.C.Liverpool as the Executor of this my last Will and Testament, and it is my will that he enter upon and perform all his duties as such without either Bond or Security of any kind being required of him. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal at Cincinnati Ohio, this eighth day of April 1863. JOHN LIVERPOOL (seal) "

3. We used Carter Woodson's 1830 census, the 1841 Cincinnati City Directory (which listed blacks separately from whites), and the 1850 and 1860 federal censuses. Federal census takers indicated the color of persons as W (White), M (mulatoo), and B (black).

4. John Liverpool's will was found in the Hamilton County Will Record Volume 18, page 4, estate number 11046, submitted to probate November 14, 1866. We also found an administrative docket, Volume 5, page 421, in which appraisers and bondsmen were listed.

I do hereby revoke all former wills by me made. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand & seal this twenty sixth day of March in the year of our Lord 1845. WILLIAM (x) BARNHILL

Witnesses: Jonathan Morris, Louden Carle?

Will proved: 25 August 1845. [Case #2727 Columbiana Co]

On 21 Oct 1812, William Barnhill, of Columbiana Co Ohio, purchased a quarter section of land in Section 14 of Elk Run Township, Columbiana Co., through the Steubenville Land Office.

Another document has recently come to light, found in the deed records of York Co., Penna. (vol.2H p65). Parts of the photocopy are badly blurred and illegible. The following represents the portions which can be read:

To all people unto whom these presents shall come, William Nelson of the township of Menallen, County of York, State of Pennsylvania sendeth greeting: Whereas the said William purchased a mulatto child by the name of WILL from a certain James Finley of the State of Maryland, and whereas the said WILL by the laws of Pennsylvania aforesaid became free on his removal with his said master into the said last mentioned state but the said mulatto being in a state of minority it became dubious how far the said master's authority extended, wherefore know ye that in order to settle said doubts as well as for and in consideration of the sum of fifteen pounds good and lawful money of the said state to him the said William Nelson in hand ....and ....paid the ....whereof is hereby acknowledged hath released and forever Quit Claim and by these presents the said William doth for himself his heirs....administrators release and forever quit claim unto the said WILL a mulatto aforesaid hereafter to be known by the name of WILLIAM BARNHILL all his the said William Nelson's rights will....we...claim and demand to his future or past service to that from henceforth....become free of under him. In testimony of any claim or demand of the said William Nelson or any person claiming whereof the said William Nelson hath to these presents hand and seal this twenty-ninth day of July one thousand seven hundred and ninety sealed and delivered in the presence of us. William Nelson, York County is before me, Thomas Fisher Esquire, one of the justices of the court of common pleas in and for said county comes William Nelson in this name acknowledged the within release to be his act and deed and of such consented the same be sealed of record, given under my hand and seal this 29th July 1790.

Interestingly, the executors and witnesses named in William Barnhill's will are all white; Nancy Smith has not been identified; William's wife (apparently Anna) had probably predeceased him; and of his children, the two girls married black men and are identified as black and/or mulatto in census records, while at least some of the sons changed their names to Barnell, Barney and Packer [likely the maiden name of William's wife], and passed for white.

MEDICAL RECORDS AS A GENEALOGICAL RESOURCE

ROBERT STANLEY McCREA, M.D.*

Over the years I have attended many conferences and read articles concerning various, sometimes obscure, sources of genealogical information, ranging from abstracts of wills to quitclaim deeds. Another resource that I have found to be quite useful in my research is the medical record of my ancestors. It is my purpose in this paper to acquaint my fellow genealogists with this potentially valuable source about which little is known to the general public.

In Ohio no statuatory regulations exist requiring medical institutions to maintain their medical records for any specified number of years. Most hospitals, however, have developed their own individual policy based on recommendations from legal counsel and prevailing standards in the area. YES, the records are abailable! It is the policy of all the hospitals that I surveyed to keep records at least 25 years. However, it is not uncommon to encounter complete patient files dating back over 40 years. Generally, the original records have been placed on microfilm.

We all have filled out extensive medical questionnaires and responded to seemingly endless interrogatories from doctors or their nurses. All of this information has been filed away in the "archives" of the hospital or the doctor's office. The content of these records may vary greatly. You may find nothing, or you may discover a goldmine of important facts.

Nowadays for a hospital to be certified by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals, among numerous other requirements the medical records concerning its patients must include specific catagories of information.
The medical history will cover such topics as Chief Complaint, History of Present Illness, Review of Symptoms, Past Medical History, Family History and Social history. Any one of these sections could mention a name, date or place that could provide the missing link to further our research on an unsolved problem. The first page of the hospital chart will include an abundance of genealogical facts such as complete name, address, date and place of birth, names of parents, next of kin, religious preference, occupation, military experience, etc.

Let us look at several specific illustrations of how this resource may be useful. Suppose you were fortunate enough to be able to study the record of your grandfather who died at the age of 89 in 1956 from complications of diabetes. The approximate year of his birth would be easy to calculate, 1867. You may read that "his condition worsened while he was visiting his Aunt Mollie in Sarasota, Florida, so he returned home."

In the Family History section you may learn that his father was killed at the age of 26 in a railroad accident when he [the patient, your grandfather] was only 12 years old. So from these facts the competent genealogist could deduce that the great grandfather was born about 1853, possibly worked for the railroad and died about 1879. (It would be worthwhile to check to see if his widow remarried.) These dates occured long before most areas of the country recorded vital statistics and otherwise might not be available to you from traditional sources.

Many of us never knew our great grandparents or even all four of our grandparents. But each one was a unique individual who had his or her own personality, habits and lifestyle. I hope that your ancestor's physician did take the time to record these characteristics in an informative Social History. This section may include whether or not the patient was a smoker or enjoyed alcohol. Often it will include the educational or occupational background of the family. I once had an elderly lady as a patient who proudly volunteered that her daddy had been a physician back in the horse-and-buggy days when Oklahoma was in the Indian Territory. Also, parents are oftentimes quick to mention the achievements of their children.

Possibly you may discover other personal information such as "the patient has been quite distressed by the recent lawsuit involving his former employer and brother-in-law." This sort of revelation can demonstrate to us how the person reacted to various stressful situations in life.

So, we have determined that the records are available and that their contents could contribute valuable genealogical information. However, the problem of accessibility remains. Who should be permitted to view these records that are supposed to be "privileged communication" between the physician and patient? The confidentiality of this relationship is protected under Ohio Revised Code 2317.02 (B) and under general ethics outlined by the American Medical Association. The release of confidential records regarding a patient's physical condition or treatment is a matter within control of that patient. If he or she is not available for whatever reason to authorize the release of the desired information, it is not clear who should be in a position to grant permission for another party to review the records.

The medical librarians whom I interviewed said they probably would not require any formal authorization if the person requesting the records was a member of the family or appeared to be seeking only genealogical information. On the other hand, if they anticipated any problems, they would notify the hospital administrator and would require written authorization from the next of kin or the executor of the estate. One record custodian said she would contact the attending physician before releasing records to a family member if the patient's files contained medically embarrassing information.

Finally, the medical records department of a hospital will be new territory for most of you. Identify yourself and state your intentions clearly to the record clerks. They are busy, well-trained professionals who may be able to assist you in your research. Please respect the confidential information contained in these records. If you are successful in locating the patient's file you are seeking, hopefully, the doctor's handwriting will be legible !

ATLAS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY, OHIO - HARDESTY 1882, LAKE 1887. Published by the Lawrence County Historical Society. 1985. Donated by Lawrence Co. Chapter OGS, P.O. Box 945, Ironton, OH 45638. 120 pp. Hard Cover. Index. $35.00 plus $1.50 Ohio tax plus $3.00 shipping.

A reprint of two old atlases of Lawrence Co. Ohio. The Hardesty edition features history and biographical sketches. The Lake edition contains township landowner maps.

1860 CENSUS INDEX, NOBLE COUNTY, OHIO AND 1850 CENSUS INDEX, TOWNSHIPS TAKEN TO FORM NOBLE COUNTY. Compiled by Lois Blake. Published by the Noble County Chapter OGS, P.O. Box 444, Caldwell, OH 43724. 1986. 92 pp. Soft Cover. $9.00 plus $ .75 postage and handling plus $ .55 OH resident tax.

An index of heads of households for not only the 1860 census but also a listing of the 1850 census in townships which became Noble County in 1851. Also included are the names of individuals with different surnames who were living in the household at the time of the census.

SUMMIT CO. OHIO DEATH RECORDS, VOL. III, 1876-1878 AND SCATTERED RECORDS, 1900-1902. Compiled by Marilyn Kirn Kovatch and Loretta Snodgrass St. John. Published by Summit Co. Chapter OGS, P.O. Box 2232, Akron, OH 44309. 1985. 61 pp. Soft Cover. $6.00 plus $1.00 mailing plus 5.5% tax for Ohio residents.

Everything appearing in the Death Record Book has been copied and published. The names are listed alphabetically with death date and if given the place, age, occupation, cause of death, birth, place of birth, and residence.

PIONEER OHIO NEWSPAPERS
1793-1810
Genealogical and Historical Abstracts
by Karen Mauer Green

These abstracts of some of the earliest newspapers in Ohio include over 46,000 references to the early settlers of Ohio and the Northwest Territory. The entries are especially strong in the Cincinnati and Chillicothe areas, but include news of residents from all the Ohio settlements. There are many entries from the following counties: Ross, Hamilton, Adams, Belmont, Butler, Champaign, Clermont, Franklin, Gallia, Highland, Jefferson, Montgomery, Muskingum, Scioto, Warren and Washington. The bulk of the information concerns ordinary people such as farmers, merchants and artisans, but prominent Ohioans are also well represented.

The book contains a wealth of information on these pioneers in the form of marriages, obituaries, elections, court records, probate records, early advertisements, heirs, apprentices, militia, land disputes, occupations, former residences, estate settlements, divorce, local events and disputes, military expeditions and much, much more. Each abstract contains enough information to explain the context of the advertisement or article. A complete index of persons, place-names and subjects is included in this 384 page, hardcover book.

The price is $26.00 (plus $1.50 shipping and handling). Texas residents add 5% sales tax.
